Historical Note

On February 22, 1869 Rev. J. W. Wellman, D.D brought the idea of the Congregational Club to a Pastor's Meeting in Boston, Massachusetts. The club was fully established, with a constitution and officers, by April 20th of the same year. The goal of the club was to "energize Congregationalism" by encouraging camaraderie and cooperation among Congregationalists, particularly in the Boston area. The club fostered this community with monthly discussions, and formal social gatherings such as their Annual Festival and Forefathers' Day.

This collection contains records through 1947, but the club continued to exist until it was disbanded at some point between 1978 and 1981.
